Welcome!

This is the Scholastic Internet Center, Scholastic's extension into the electronic world. Our services and areas include:

- Information about Scholastic Inc., one of the nation's leading publishers and distributors of children's books, classroom and professional magazines, professional books, technology products and other educational materials. News from Scholastic and from our Internet group.

- The Ultimate Education Store, an online catalog of wonderful books and education materials for teachers and students. Browse and search the Ultimate Education Store Directory to read descriptions of hundreds of education products and materials that you can use in your classroom and enjoy at home. Through the Ultimate Education Store you may order products online, as well as by phone, fax, and mail.

- The Ultimate Learning Libraries. These curriculum-based libraries for teachers and students offer timely, valuable lesson plans, activity guides, research, and resource material. Choose from a Middle School Natural Science Library, a Reading and Language Arts Library full of lesson plans and author bios, and an Integrating Technology Library that provides current information and discussions, as well as public domain software and a vast collection of Internet resources. Check out our Seasonal Library of wide-ranging activities for every month of the year. And also look at our new Mini-Libraries whose first entry is a Grants Mini-Library.

  Evaluators and library subscribers click here to go to the Subscription libraries.
